

Uber

These are the conditions for Uber Rewards. Please make sure you have read and understood them as well as the rules of the Discovery Card rewards programme

What is this reward?

When you pay for your Uber trips with your Discovery Card, you can get up to 20% cash back. Your cash back depends on your Vitality status and number of years on Vitality.

Plus, if you are a Discovery Insure client with VitalityDrive and an existing Uber user, you'll get a 25% discount on your Uber trips, subject to a total discount of R250 per month. Please view Discovery Insure's terms and conditions

Who may use it?

All Discovery Vitality members who have a Discovery Card may use this benefit.

What you pay

There are no extra fees for this reward, other than your monthly Discovery Card and Vitality fees.

How it works

You will get cash back when you pay for your Uber trips using your Discovery Card. Your cash back depends on your Vitality status and number of years on Vitality. See the table below for your cash back percentage.

When you pay for your Uber trips, you will be charged the full amount by the driver. We will then pay your cash back into the primary cardholder's Discovery Card account within three working days after the statement closes.

You are advised to get your own tax advice about any benefit you may receive in terms of these rules. Discovery will not be responsible for any tax consequences that may arise.

Vitality cash back percentages
Years on Vitality	Blue	Bronze	Silver	Gold	Diamond
Fewer than three	10%	10%	10%	10%	N/A
Three to five	10%	11%	12%	13%	15%
More than five	10%	12%	14%	15%	20%

Limits to the reward

The maximum amount that you can get cash back on for each cash back partner is limited to 20% of your total Discovery Card spend in that statement period. We apply a maximum limit of R10 000 spent at all Discovery Card partner stores when calculating your cash back. The maximum Uber cash back you will get per month will be R200, the maximum qualifying spend will be R1 000.

Uber is available in Johannesburg, Pretoria, Durban and Cape Town. Please note that the international benefit does not qualify for cash back.

An example of how the limits work

Jake spends R20 000 on his Discovery Card in the statement period of 1 October to 31 October. He bought computer accessories at Incredible Connection for R6 000, luggage at Frasers for R1 250, and paid for an Uber transfer of R1 750.

The rest of the money was spent at various other stores that are not in the Discovery Card store network. Jake is a Vitality member on Gold Vitality status. He has been a Vitality member for two years. This means he qualifies for 10% cash back on his purchases in the Discovery Card store network, subject to the rules listed here. We calculate his cash back percentage as:

1. 20% rule: partner store maximum qualifying spend

Discovery Card first applies the 20% rule. The maximum amount that could qualify for rewards at each partner store, based on his total Discovery Card spend, is calculated as:

R20 000 X 20% = R4 000

This means his qualifying spend at each partner store is limited to R4 000.

Discovery Card partner store	Actual spend	Qualifying spend at each partner store (after the limit of R4 000 is applied)
Incredible Connection	R6 000	R4 000*
Frasers	R1 250	R1 250
Uber	R1 750	R1 000
Total	R9 000	R6 250

*Jake spent R6 000 at Incredible Connection. As this is more than 20% of his total monthly spend, he will get cash back on R4 000.

Jake spent R1 750 using Uber's services. Because this is more than the R1 000 limit, he will get cash back on R1 000.

2. Calculating the benefit

After calculating the individual limit at each partner store, we multiply it by the cash back percentage that Jake qualifies for as follows:

How the cash back was made up	Actual spend at partner store	Qualifying spend at each partner (after the limit of R4 000 is applied)	Cash back received
Incredible Connection	R6 000	R4 000	R400
Frasers	R1 250	R1 250	R125
Uber	R1 750	R1 000	R100
Total	R9 000	R6 250	R625
